

until the same be paid; on the third and every subsequent conviction, he shall pay twenty dollars and the costs of prosecution, and shall be imprisoned in the common jail, no less than three months nor more than six months, and in default of the payment of the fines and costs prescribed by this section, for the first and second convictions, the convict shall not be entitled to the benefits of chapter 173 of the revised statutes, until he shall have been imprisoned two months; and in default of payment of fines and costs provided for the third and every subsequent conviction, he shall not be entitled to the benefit of said chapter 173 of the revised statutes, until he shall have been imprisoned four months. And if any clerks, servant, agent or other persons in the employment, or on the premises of another, shall violate the provisions of this section, he shall be held equally guilty with the principal, and on conviction shall suffer the same penalty.

§ 5. Any forfeiture or penalty arising under the above section, may be recovered by an action of debt, or by complaint before any justice of the peace, or judge of any municipal or police court, in the county where the offence was committed. And the forfeiture so recovered shall go to the town where the convicted party resides, for the use of the poor; and the prosecutor or complainant may be admitted as a witness in the trial. And if any one of the selectmen or board of aldermen or mayor shall approve of the commencement of any such suit by endorsing his name upon the writ, the defendant shall in no event recover any costs; and in all actions of debt arising under this section, the fines and forfeitures suffered by the defendant shall be the same as if the action had been by complaint. And it shall be the duty of the mayor and aldermen of any city, and selectmen of any town, to commence an action in behalf of said town or city, against any person guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this act, on being informed of the same, and being furnished with proof of the fact.

The Orphan Child's Lament.

One eye I missing out,
In listless dreams alone;
A sound fell on my breast,
Far sadder than its own;
It was a childish strain,
And quick aside I flung
The mystic, shadowy past,
And listened while she sung.

Oh! dreams of early life,
How sweet you are to me,
When I, a trusting little child,
Stood at my mother's knee;
So lovingly she pressed my cheek,
And gently stroked my hair,
I almost feel that kiss again,
That hand rest lightly there.

There, too, I used to lip
My little childish prayer;
One that she taught me
While I was kneeling there.
Oh! no one hears me now,
Or cares if e'er I pray;
No blessing rests upon my head,
My mother's far, O, far away!

For death too soon, too soon, alas!
Dissolved that holy spell;
Tore from me that cherished one,
Without one sad farewell.
And now a little orphan girl,
Alone and sad I roam—
I have no mother left me now—
I have no friends or home.

Her love lives on I know,
Now sang the beautiful child,
Perchance she sees me now,
And at the thought she smiled,
Then quietly bent her knee,
Tears falling like the rain;
Take me! Oh God, she cried,
Take me to meet my Ma again!

HOLLY.

The powder mill of Mr. Gareshe, situated about two miles from Wilmington, (Del.) blew up about 6 o'clock on Friday evening, with a tremendous noise. There were two distinct explosions. Conard, the engineer, was instantly killed, being literally torn to atoms. The hands employed in the mill had just left work. The mill was totally destroyed.

An anti-slavery convention met in Cincinnati on the 19th. It was addressed by Garrison.
